An interesting blend of a customized program with virtual mentor classes. Virtual classroom sessions are scheduled on Pacific time and recorded for later viewing. Perhaps not complete enough to serve as your only school, but I'm not familiar with it enough to say for sure. It seems to be somewhat accredited for high school courses through Williamsburg Academy.

A great option for worldschoolers, unschoolers, and homeschoolers. This program allows flexibility to students for what interests them and prepares them for the future by exposing them to entrepreneurship, technology, and global citizenship. Does offer sibling discounts and scholarships.

This is the program I've been using for the past two years. I really enjoy customizing to each of my kids. This basically gives you access to the same programs kids are using in traditional schools. In fact, we used many of these programs in the schools my kids attended before we left.
